ibml Equipment Rentals

Our equipment rental program puts the right solution within your reach when you need it.

In today's economic environment, operations executives are expected to do more with less. Cost-cutting is a way of life -- and capital budgets are being scrutinized like never before.

But this doesn't mean that you have to put your document automation projects on hold.

ibml's equipment rental program can help you effectively manage ongoing production challenges, back-file conversions, short-term projects, spikes in volume or systems conversions -- all without an upfront capital investment.

For years, our ImageTrac® and ImageTracDS scanners have been the standard in high-speed intelligent scanning. Now, our rental program makes it easier than ever for organizations of all sizes to leverage our technology for applications such as digital mailroom, records scanning, remittance processing and more!

Why rent?

ibml's equipment rental program helps organizations like yours:

- Expand the reach and impact of a limited technology budget
- Pay for the use of the equipment, not its ownership
- Convert back-files without having to purchase excess capacity
- Manage short-term projects and spikes in volume cost-effectively
- Quickly gain access to equipment, without a capital investment
- Begin projects that need a proof-of-concept with minimal expense
- Gain budgetary flexibility for document automation projects
- Ensure processing capacity during data center moves
- Gain a significant edge over your competition

ibml can structure our equipment rental programs to provide optimum financial flexibility, and you'll benefit from predictable monthly payments. Plus, rentals help minimize the risk associated with the disposal of equipment you no longer need when a short-term project or conversion is completed.

And, with our inventory of equipment, we can have a scanner on your site and fully operational within a few days, if necessary. We can even custom-configure document scanning solutions to meet your particular specifications. Additionally, our rental program can include ibml software and support.

Let's Get Started

To learn more, contact sales@ibml.com or visit www.ibml.com.